Monday 4.5.20

May the 8th 1945

This morning I made some bunting with mummy. We hung the bunting at the front window so everyone could see it. Next we made a apple pie using our washbasins. Mummy made me have a wash and put on my best suit. When it was time we joined our friends, family, neighbours. Then we all shared our food and cups of tea there was a band playing a song and we all danced. We were really pleased that he won the bottle. I think it is going to take a little time to get back to normal but I'm excited for the future.

Finally the war (~~was~~) over. I felt way more happier. First there was Germans trying to take over England then the Germans surrendered. The blitz ~~was~~ was very scary when I ^{heard} the sirnes my legs trembled my heart beat out my chest the st. - Super ^{Sentence} well done!!

I was terried when I saw blunship ^{over} buildings. Every day ~~no~~ we all hope that our houses don't get a bomb dropped on them.

every day we hardly get any good when the war started we were all tied becouse of the ~~ger~~ Germans.

I feel excited about the ~~x~~ future but it will be disiguit to feel safe again. This day is a dream come true. I am looking ^{forward} to the street partly with flags (I feel ~~to~~ lucky to be alive, and celebrate ~~the party~~ below?)

with my family.) like this last live, a good ending to the chary extract.
